

Father, forgive me.

● ● — ●

Give rhythm to the sentence.

- The dot represents a short sound or gesture, such as clapping your hands or tapping a table.
- The dash represents a long sound or gesture, such as sliding your hands against each other or on a table. The dash emphasizes the most important parts of the sentence.